From the desk of Paul Connor,
Author of the #1 Lotto Guide Best Seller

Dear fellow lotto player,

I want to introduce to you the result of my latest project, of which I am extremely proud. But first of all, I'd like you to answer one question:

“In order to win the lottery, would you consider it relevant to get all the information you can get on the game and lottery that you intent to play?”

If you're answer was YES, you have my full respect and admiration. But if you answered NO, then let me explain why it is crucial that you do get and study all that information.

Imagine, for a moment, that playing the lottery with the purpose of winning (some people play just for the kicks of it) is like going to a job interview. Would you say it's a good idea to go to an interview without having as much information as possible about the company and the position you're interviewing for? I say you need to know the rules of the game in order to win. And this goes for interviews... and playing the lottery too!

If you are really serious about winning the lottery...

...it is in your best interest to play the game most suited for you – and the one with the highest winning probability.

But how can you get all that information? Well, you could spend anywhere between 30 and 40 days surfing the internet for an average 8 hours a day, and get most of the information yourself (I'm pretty sure it would take you a lot longer to get it all).

Or...

You could just take advantage of the fact that someone has already done that for you – and wants to share it, too!

I've been working along with my research team for 3 weeks on this guide and now I am proud to announce that...

- instant delivery (you download the Guide onto your PC)
- no shipping taxes
- extremely rapid access (you can start reading the Guide the minute you've finished downloading it!)

Another advantage of this Guide being an e-book is that we've managed to reduce it's cost by almost half (compared with the cost of the exact printed-guide).

So How Much Does "The Complete Lottery Guide" Cost?

I had a really big problem answering this question myself. So here's how I went about it:

If we were to hire a single person to do the job, it would have taken him or her around 25 days (a total of approximately 200 working hours), and we'd have to pay him/her something between $2900 and $3400 to do it!

My sales department suggested that, to get ANY profit at all, I should charge at least $39,95 for each copy of this guide. However, since I'm really thrilled just with the fact that this project is finished, I want to sell "The Complete Lottery Guide" for just $29.95 but for a limited period of time. Believe me, this is a bargain; as far as we know, this is the only lotto guide of this type available! (This means you won't find all this information anywhere else!)

So, if you hurry up and order today, you can still benefit of my special offer – and get the guide for $29.95. But hurry up, my sales director is determined to get the price up to at least $39.95 – and this can happen tomorrow!

But before you say YES and grab this guide, here' my...
